

Care of your child after their operation

Caroline Thorpe Ward

Pain

Your child may experience some mild pain or discomfort following discharge from hospital. If pain relieving drugs are not prescribed on your child's discharge, you may give your child drugs containing Paracetamol, such as Calpol. This may need to be given regularly for the next couple of days. If the pain does not improve or is severe, please consult your child's GP.

- Do not give more than the stated dose
- Do not give medicines containing Aspirin to children under 12 years

Dressings/stitches

Your child's dressing should stay in place fordays. If it has not peeled off within this time, you may gently remove this yourself. Please ensure you wash your hands before and after doing this. If the dressing needs replacing, your nurse will give you some dressings for you to change yourself, or your nurse might refer your child to the Children's Community Nursing Team.

If your child has any stitches or clips, your nurse will tell you if these need to be removed

Follow up

Not all children require a follow-up appointment. If your child's consultant thinks one is necessary, the date and time for this will be given to you on discharge or sent to you in the post.

Additional care

Sometimes children are prescribed antibiotics or other medicines after their surgical procedure. Any prescribed medicines will be given to you and explained to you before you go home.

If your child develops signs of infection such as any unusual or unpleasant discharge from the wound, redness or swelling around the wound, or if your child develops a temperature, please contact your GP or Community Children's Nurse.

If problems occur, or if you are concerned and would like a hospital review, please contact the consultant's secretary who will be happy to help (the secretary can be contacted via the hospital switchboard).
